

RUBY BRIDGES

She is Ruby Bridges The first African to integrate to all white school. Not only did Ruby Bridges change society, she changed the future of education. Instead of an all white school, Ruby Bridges made it possible for a school to be with all races. Ruby Bridges helped reform education to where it is now. As a member on the civil rights movement, Ruby Bridges made a huge impact on society. Today, schools are fully integrated, restaurants serve all races, drinking fountains are for both blacks and whites use, and both whites and blacks can use the same bathroom.

Ruby Bridges was the first African American to Integrate to a all White School in November of 1960, where she was accompanied by her mother and U.S Marshals because of the violent crowd back then .Now she is one of pioneers for the Civil rights movement. <https://www.biography.com/>

<https://youtu.be/SvW10kvKDA>

Born Ruby Nell Bridges on September 8,1954 in Tyler Mississippi where she was raised on a farm while her grandparents shared crops. It wasn't until Ruby turned 4 when she moved to the south in New Orleans. Her father got a job as a gas station attendant and her mother took night jobs to help support their growing family. Soon she had 2 younger brothers and 1 younger sister

It all started when in 1960 when she integrated to a All White School when she was 6 where she was in Kindergarten where she took a test to determine if she can attend an all white school. She became the only 6 out of 150 to pass the test. Bridges would be the only African American student to attend the William Frantz School, near her home, and the first Black child to attend an all-white elementary school in the South.

Ruby bridges actually has her own website where you can look t her greatest moments purchase her books,listen to her podcast and get notified to join her zoom meeting. <https://www.rubybridges.com/>

Ruby Bridges braved act not only communities but society as well, Bridges brave act helped impact the movement for the Civil Rights movement. Now she shares her story with future generations in education forums.

